If you cannot access the data protection statement, a text version can be sent to you.

General notes

Frequencies for satellite communications are assigned on the basis of the German Telecommunications Act, the frequency usage plan and relevant administrative rules.

The Bundesnetzagentur may request an utilisation concept to be presented to verify that the frequency assignment requirements will be met. Where necessary to ensure interference-free and efficient frequency use, the Bundesnetzagentur may also request that proof be submitted showing that the subjective requirements (reliability, efficiency and specialised knowledge) will be satisfied.

The frequencies assigned may only be used for operating equipment which conforms with the regulations and requirements pertaining to its intended use and which may be put into operation in the Federal Republic of Germany and which may be marked as such.

Frequency assignments are subject to payment of fees under the Frequency Fee Ordinance and of contributions under the Ordinance concerning Contributions for the Protection of Interference-Free Frequency Usage. The fees and contributions are set out in a separate notification and must be paid, irrespective of whether or not the equipment is used (this provision does not apply to parties exempt from paying fees and contributions).
